Telephone No.

1. Applicant has submitted a new set of amended claims May 30, 2006. The applicant states amendments are being made to correct 112 2nd deficiencies that were made in the rejection dated February 3, 2006.
2. However, applicant has made several errors in the amendments. Claim 77 the line starting with "a display for displaying" should have the limitation added on January 1, 2006 of "The cost of said selected delivery option". Examiner is unable to determine if applicant intends to delete the entire section or correct antecedent basis of "the cost" and "said selected delivery option" as the applicant fails to previously identify a cost as well as a delivery option that was actually selected.
3. In the section that starts "a processor system..." the applicant has amended "~~package~~ parcel or envelope, which are amendments that were previously made in papers filed January 1, 2006 and rejected on February 3, 2006. In this same sentence applicant has the limitation "said parcel weight" however, on January 1, 2006 applicant amended this section to read "said parcel or envelope" which was addressed in rejection dated February 3, 2006.
4. In the paragraph beginning with "printer means" in papers filed on May 30, 2006 in sentence that states "...on the parcel or envelope to be mailed..." the applicant has deleted the limitation added on January 1, 2006 of "by the user". The last sentence of this paragraph in papers filed January 1, 2006 read "...via the delivery service option chosen by the user. However, amendments filed on May 30, 2006 applicants sentence reads "...via the delivery service chosen by said customer.

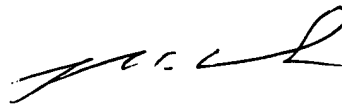

5. Applicant is advised to carefully review claims for submission and correction of identified formalities.
